Hill House Film Introduction: This film is part of 'Readings & Treasures ... A Tombstone, Arizona Shop', 'Hill House Shadow Box Exhibit' -- Commemoration to Amnesty International. Bridging a time warp, Joy's 2006 raw film footage presentation of Clifton, Arizona, set to Tomas Walker's sound of 'Spirit Dreams', is the 'Hill House' Film. The film meanders along the San Francisco River, by the Morenci Mine train track, down historic Chase Street, up the mining town's hills, through the 'Hill House', and behind it to the Miner's Cave and Cliff Face Mural. Article; Poem; Film Clip Photo of Hill House; Film Categories. [Additional Notes for Clifton will be uploaded separate from references in 'Mexico's Rising Sun Resource References & Study Notes'.]

'Is Mexico City's Aztec Templo Mayor a Shrine to Arizona Mountain and Earth Form Deities?' -- A Proposal For Evaluation, By SC Jones, DD.

[1/2016 Edit, XII. Appendix 2]

It is with purpose, a premise and proposal that an invitation is given, to evaluate the remaining Twin Peak(s), Safford and Panther Peak, Picture Rocks, and surrounding Tucson Mountains and valleys, as potential Deities' enshrined in Mexico City's Templo Mayor Sacred Precinct. Substantial evidence suggests that the Arizona site may be where the Aztec Sun God, Huitzilopochtli tossed Coyolxauhqui's Disk off the Hill of Coatepec (Serpent Mountain).

Presented in layman's simplicity, by an observer of times, the history behind the building of an Aztec Sun God's shrine, on the lake where Mexico City is built today, is presented as the foundation for observations and questions surrounding the Twin Peak(s) site, in the Picture Rocks area of the Tucson Mountains, in southern Arizona.

The area's natural history, of the snake-bird-leopard-water-ziggurat sun god cult of the Pre Columbian, Phoenician, Olmec, Mesoamerican, Hohokam, Mayan, Aztec, and Native American Indian's inhabiting the area, presents a compelling need for a comparative evaluation between the Sun God Shrines in Mexico City to Earth Form Deities in Picture Rocks, Arizona.

The relevance of such a find, to all of our lives, is established in this preliminary examination. Yesterday's footsteps led to today's. Where will yours take you tomorrow?

'Readings & Treasures -- A Tombstone, Arizona Shop' [Edited]

An historical introduction to Tombstone, Arizona's Readings & Treasures' Shop -- Started in order to rent a house, the arty-ghost-town shop of eclectic-memorabilia and natural creations gave Joy / SC Jones' the opportunity to give Card Readings and write. ¶ In the face of Tombstone and U.S-Mexico Border politics, her plans for working in Mexico with orphans and missions changed into a research project, later released as 'Mexico's Rising Sun'. ¶ Photos of Readings & Treasures' Memorabilia are accompanied by the shop's brochure, 'It Was In The Cards.' With a look at playing card history and their use in Tombstone's boom town mining era, Joy's perspective on "working with people's needs to create new beginnings" through card reading and paranormal investigations is accompanied with references to her books on the Holy Spirit and Cartomancy. ¶ Completed and released at the Readings & Treasures' shop and online, the 'Hill House' Shadow Box Exhibit, Commemorating Amnesty International is included with its Brochure, Film and Research references.

'THROUGH THE VEIL,' A Reading By Joy / SC Jones, DD. August 2015.

Plot: Mysterious stalkings in the haunted woods of White Mountain Apache lands opens a door in the spirit realm that reveals the murders of a survivalist family in the high pines of the Apache-Sitgreaves National Forests. Trusting in God's protection from shape-shifters, ghosts, wolves and stalkers, suspense leads to faith and a discovery that the mountainous woods have a living history that is colliding with global surveillance, while escalating into an environment requiring spiritual power to deal with it. While some pursue accessing the spirit realm for balance and healing, science may eliminate the very thing it's seeking -- truth. [Fiction or nonfiction would indicate the reader's perspective.] Illustrations: Ink and pencil drawings. Reading Presentation: First person incident citings and spiritual readings with historical, cultural, religious and environmental assessments. Western Apache Indian's Legal Rights to access sacred sites for religious purposes. The importance of religious freedom to all U.S. citizens, and government perspective references.
